

Dive Into Algorithms

A Pythonic Adventure for the Intrepid Beginner

by Bradford Tuckfield

errata updated to print 2

Page	Error	Correction	Print corrected
122	Listing 6-6: This function performs the full simulated annealing process and returns an optimized itinerary	Listing 6-6: We updated our perturb function to allow resetting: if a certain number of steps have not yielded any improvements, we reset our itinerary to be the same as the best previous itinerary we've found so far.	Print 2
136	So we check the circumcircle of every circle in our existing DT, . . .	So we check the circumcircle of every triangle in our existing DT, . . .	Pending
171	It could be that social activity does not cause happiness, but rather that happiness causes social activity; maybe happy people are more often in the jovial mood that leads to ccalling their friends and arranging social meetings.	It could be that social activity does not cause happiness, but rather that happiness causes social activity; maybe happy people are more often in the jovial mood that leads to calling their friends and arranging social meetings.	Pending